Scope note. residential/residential-led transactions remain archived (commercial-only scope). Engineering Resource Group (ERG) / Godspeed — architecture/engineering firm, outside commercial-contractor scope. Kelso Industries (~$1B+ revenue, 31 acquisitions since 2021) noted in Section 04 as a platform milestone, not a single transaction. Sila Services / Goldman Sachs (~$1.7B) is context-only: residential-led and pre-baseline. Stonebridge/Paramount Mechanical excluded (unverifiable transaction date).

02 — Top 5 Deals (Signal Over Volume)

1. Bain Capital + Mubadala → Service Logic — Recap (control, Dec 2025)

Control transaction in the largest independent U.S. commercial mechanical services platform.

Why it matters: The defining commercial-MEP capital event of the window — top-tier sponsor plus sovereign-adjacent capital underwriting contracted commercial mechanical service revenue at national scale.

2. ADIA + GIC (minority) → Pye-Barker Fire & Safety — Recap (Jan 2025)

Altas and Leonard Green retained lead positions; two sovereign wealth funds took minority stakes. Platform then executed 57 acquisitions in 2025 (9,000 employees, 47 states).

Why it matters: Sovereign wealth entry validates code-mandated recurring inspection revenue as institutional-grade; funds the fastest add-on cadence in commercial MEP.

3. Blackstone → AIR Control Concepts — Recap (sole institutional investor, 2026)

Blackstone acquired Madison Dearborn's remaining stake; founder/CEO reinvested. 38 operating companies across 35 states + Canada; stated data-center expansion focus; six add-ons YTD 2026 per Capstone.

Why it matters: Mega-cap capital consolidating ownership of a commercial HVAC platform explicitly to pursue data-center cooling demand — the clearest end-market signal in commercial HVAC.

4. Truelink Capital → Horwitz — Platform (completed Jul 1, 2026)

Significant investment in a 1918-founded Minneapolis MEP services provider (HVAC/plumbing/electrical/BAS) serving data centers, semiconductor fab, medtech, healthcare, and advanced manufacturing; management retains significant ownership.

Why it matters: Freshest platform in the window and a direct commercial/industrial mission-critical play — confirms sponsor appetite for MEP contractors tied to the data-center and semiconductor build-out is still accelerating into mid-2026.

5. Stellex Capital → ICS Holding — Platform (completed Jan 15, 2025)

NY middle-market sponsor acquired a mission-critical electrical/instrumentation services provider (Houston; Southeast US) serving industrial, healthcare, energy/power, institutional end markets; Langford Electric followed as add-on.

Why it matters: Anchors the window's start with a clean commercial/industrial electrical platform formation that has already demonstrated the add-on thesis — the template for the mission-critical electrical roll-up.
