New in v1.2 (highlighted for proofing): Row 1 Stellex/ICS platform (Jan 15, 2025 Business Wire) — previously missing. Rows 25 Crescendo/PIPCO-EFI, 26 Broadwing/Upchurch, 27 Truelink/Horwitz added from Newsfile/PRNewswire/S&P; sweep. Row 12 Langford Electric now carries its advisor-disclosed date. Transaction Date column now states whether each date is an announcement, close, or advisor-disclosure, and its precision.

Archive note: residential/residential-led transactions from v1.0 remain archived (commercial-only scope). Sila Services / Goldman Sachs (~$1.7B, announced Nov 2024) is context-only: residential-led and pre-baseline. Kelso Industries ($1B revenue, 31 acquisitions since 2021) noted in Section 04 — the Oct 2025 release is a revenue milestone, not a single transaction. Stonebridge/Paramount Mechanical still excluded (unverifiable transaction date).

02 — Top 5 Deals (Signal Over Volume)

1. Bain Capital + Mubadala → Service Logic — Recap (control taken Dec 2025)

Control transaction in the largest independent U.S. commercial mechanical services platform.
Why it matters: The defining commercial-MEP capital event of the window — top-tier sponsor plus sovereign-adjacent capital underwriting contracted commercial mechanical service revenue at national scale.

2. ADIA + GIC (minority) → Pye-Barker Fire & Safety — Recap (completed Jan 2025)

Altas Partners and Leonard Green retained lead positions; two sovereign wealth funds took minority stakes. Platform then executed 57 acquisitions in 2025 (9,000 employees, 47 states).
Why it matters: Sovereign wealth entry validates code-mandated recurring inspection revenue as institutional-grade; funds the fastest add-on cadence in commercial MEP.

3. Blackstone → AIR Control Concepts — Recap (sole institutional investor, 2026)

Blackstone acquired Madison Dearborn's remaining stake; founder/CEO reinvested. Platform: 38 operating companies across 35 states + Canada; stated data-center expansion focus; six add-ons YTD in 2026 per Capstone.
Why it matters: Mega-cap capital consolidating ownership of a commercial HVAC platform explicitly to pursue data-center cooling demand — the clearest end-market signal in commercial HVAC.

4. Truelink Capital → Horwitz — Platform (completed Jul 1, 2026)

Significant investment in a 1918-founded Minneapolis MEP services provider (HVAC/plumbing/electrical/BAS) serving data centers, semiconductor fab, medtech, healthcare, and advanced manufacturing; management retains significant ownership.
Why it matters: Freshest platform in the window and a direct commercial/industrial mission-critical play — confirms sponsor appetite for MEP contractors tied to the data-center and semiconductor build-out is still accelerating into mid-2026.

5. Stellex Capital → ICS Holding — Platform (completed Jan 15, 2025)

New York middle-market sponsor acquired a mission-critical electrical/instrumentation services provider (Houston; Southeast US) serving industrial, healthcare, energy/power, and institutional end markets; stated buy-and-build intent (Langford Electric followed as add-on).
Why it matters: Anchors the window's start with a clean commercial/industrial electrical platform formation that has already demonstrated the add-on thesis — the template for the mission-critical electrical roll-up.
